4,000 PEOPLE EXPECTED AT PARK TODAY; BEAUTIFUL
EXHIBITS ON DISPLAY

Efficiency of the different sewing clubs throughout the district in sewing and making dress patterns is exemplified today in the almost perfectly arranged exhibits at the Lum park pavilion as part of the great program arranged in celebration of their own day "Achievement Day."

Throughout the early part of the morning the ladies escorted by their husbands, children and in many cases by their young men admirers, came to Lum park in jubilant spirits to make the day one of the most delightful this year. Their lunch baskets filled to the brim with tasty sweetbreads, tempting salads, chicken, inviting sandwiches the smell of the aroma of fresh coffee, the different groups gathered at the noon hour for their luncheon. It was a gathering for the great, a repast for kings. Honest to goodness, it was no place for a man on a diet.

On early arrival the different groups set to work immediately arranging their exhibits and finally putting the complete finishing touches to them just before 10 o'clock when the pavilion doors were finally opened to let a number of the waiting public in to view the exhibits. Lum park presented a galaxy of color.

Forty-two clubs were represented in the display of exhibits, there being 34 exhibits. This afternoon a large program will be carried off.

This morning was allowed for the exhibiting of the different handiworks of the different clubs. It is expected that before the day is over, over 4,000 people will visit the pavilion and view the exhibits. The exhibits are of the very finest order, arranged as if by the hands of artists.

On entering the door the visitor is greeted by the Merrifield exhibit. A painting of the fields and surroundings of Merrifield with daisies representing each member prove a very attractive sight. The exhibit features dresses, kiddie's rompers, clothes pin bags, and child dresses.

The Ironton Community Council is next on the line. The exhibit features dresses and quilts.

Little Pine group whose motto is "Economy is Everything" presented an exceptionally well devised exhibit of children apparel, table cloths, patterns, napkins, and dresses.

The Nisswa Community club showed home made shirts, blouses, children's dresses in a very artistic laid out exhibit.

Checked dresses, kiddie rompers, and household requirements featured the exhibit of the North Long Lake Improvement club. Their slogan is "Everybody's Doing It. Doing What? The Short Cuts." A picture of an old country gentleman viewing with interest the magazine of snappy fall styles creates an attraction all by itself.

The Twin Lakes club exhibit has as the center attraction bordered by needleworking, aprons, neckwear, dresses, table coverings, and patterns, a picture of the Twin Lakes. Bordered the picture also are little birchbark canoes for each member in the group with a message from each. It is a very nice laid out exhibit.

The Baxter Busy Bees live up to their name and have inlaid in the center of the exhibit a painting of a bee hive representative of the work done by their group. Checked dresses, boys rompers, and several pretty designs feature the exhibit.

The Riverton Clover Leaf club are all for the beauty of the fields. They have pretty green clover leaves decorating the dress designs. Dresses and table cloths complete the exhibit.

The Sunshine club from North Long Lake present an exhibit of aprons, and dainty child dresses.

An exhibit of the different painted signs done by the different groups advertising Achievement Day throughout the country is an attraction in the center of the pavilion.

The Gilbert Lake club had a unique way of telling the public of their club. Two press clippings from the Brainerd Daily Dispatch told of the history of the club and the progress made in its early endeavors.

The exhibit was consisted of chilies dresses, aprons, and table linen. Ferns formed a border for the exhibit.

KING FERDINAND

By ANTHONY KELDRAIS

Athens, July 16.—Unconfirmed reports from Sofia indicate that Bulgaria today is on the verge of domestic violence which might result in the abdication of Boris III, the bachelor king, and the return to the throne of his father, King Ferdinand.

Macedonian revolutionary organizations, backed by former Premier Zankoff, were alleged to be preparing for the violent overthrow of the Liapesski cabinet. It was reported that the Macedonian organizations imposed upon Boris the half secret journey which he began last week.

Boris now is in Lucerne, Switzerland, with his sister, Princess Eudoxie.

Other reports suggested that Boris seeks a wife, and that the family gathering in Switzerland which is to include members of the Hesse house in Germany, is a prelude to the announcement of Boris' engagement to Princess Giovanna, the 19 year old third daughter of the king and queen of Italy.

together in their group exhibit. They showed dresses, aprons and children's dresses.

Nokay Lake contributed children's apparel as their part of the exhibition.

The Crosby Mother's club group showed dresses. The dresses done by Mrs. Edmund Wearne were exceptionally well done.

Lake Edward's exhibit was one of the nicest there. A revue of the styles of former days leading up to the present was the big attraction.

The Pequot groups were well represented by their exhibits. Acting jointly were the "Be On Time Club," "Hustlers," and "Laff A Lot."

The exhibit featured dresses, shirts, blouses, and a complete line of the children's wardrobe.

The Neutral Community club presented a large and interesting display, featuring small tapestry made by Mrs. Anna Soderlund, illustrating bias binding and homestitching. It was a near rival to the old world art.

The iWilling club of West Oak Lawn township also had a very nice exhibit.

The Dykeman Community club showed examples of various ways of making pockets. A placard of newspaper clippings from the Brainerd Daily Dispatch contained accounts of sewing club meetings and achievement activities.

The Fleur De Lis club had a very neat exhibit. An original song was written to the tune of "Roll 'Em Girls," as the group's special song.

A large and colorful exhibit was the result of the work of the Deerwood groups. The original song written to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia" was also exhibited.

The Roosevelt Community group had besides their exhibit of dresses a picture dedicated to Theodore Roosevelt with a miniature jungle and wild animals.

The club's color and flower, the green shamrock, gave the exhibit of the West Nokay Lake sewing club an especially attractive appearance.

The South Long Lake group exhibit brought out the hand made bias tape. It was literally yards of

SENATORS IN EARLY CAMPAIGNS IN MIDDLE WEST

UNUSUAL INTEREST BY THE ELECTORATE STIRS MANY ASPIRANTS

WISCONSIN AND ILLINOIS IS PARTICULARLY SO AFFECTED

By WILLIAM J. McEVROY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, July 16.—Unusual interest by the electorate has spurred senatorial candidates in the middle west, particularly Wisconsin and Illinois off on early campaigns that promise to become intense before the hour for balloting arrives.

While the elections are more than three months hence, George E. Brennan, democratic leader in Illinois and his party's choice for the senate, today opened his campaign at Danville with a blast against the Volstead act.

Colonel Frank L. Smith, republican candidate, is rapidly recuperating from an operation and as soon as he regains sufficient strength he too will make a swing of the state.

Governor John J. Blaine and Senator Irvine L. Lenroot are fighting a bitter battle in the Badger state for the republican senatorial nomination and their campaigns take on added zest as the days go by. The Wisconsin primaries occur in September.

Long his party leader in Illinois and always a participant in the proverbial back room conferences, when democratic presidential candidates were decided upon, Brennan has virtually staked his political future on the outcome of his senate race, his first quest for public office. He has raised prohibition as the paramount issue.

Brennan's tour will be partially two fold as he plans to consult with local leaders in various congressional districts and perfect plans to get out every available vote.

The Blaine-Lenroot campaign in Wisconsin has been intensified by the arrival in Milwaukee of Senator La Follette. "Young Bob" has announced that he will shortly begin a state wide speaking tour in behalf of Blaine and the entire progressive ticket and in furtherance of the progressive principles his father battled so long for. In addition to the fight for the senate nomination, a bitter clash is on between Herman L. Ekern, state attorney general, a progressive, and Fred R. Zimmerman.

As in all Wisconsin political battles in recent years, the issue appears to be La Follette progressivism against conservative republicanism.

SEARCHERS DIG
FOR MORE BODIES

Catskill, N. Y., July 16.—(UP)—With searchers still digging in the ruins of the Twilight Inn for victims of the fire which destroyed the structure Wednesday, police and county officials today fixed the number of dead and missing at twenty.

Thus far, but one of the bodies taken from the debris has been identified, that of the Rev. Livingston Bishop, of Philadelphia, being claimed by two of his sons.

COAST GUARD FIRED
ON PRIVATE YACHT

Washington, July 16.—(UP)—A report was filed at coast guard headquarters here today charging that patrol boats had fired on the private yacht of A. Atwater Kent, radio inventor, while it was enroute from Philadelphia to Bar Harbor, Maine. The report stated that Kent, his wife and son were on board when the shots were fired. No one was injured.

The boat was searched by the coast guard, it was charged.

Boston, July 16.—Four indictments, one of them secret, were returned by the county grand jury today in connection with the death of Miss Edith Louis Green, 19 year old victim of the Mattapan, Mass., box murder.

Miss Green's body, cut into eight pieces, was found this week in three boxes at the Mattapan cemetery.

RUMANIA SENDS TROOPS INTO FRONTIER QUARREL

London, July 16.—(UP)—The Exchange Telegraph Vienna correspondent has a Bucharest report that a strong force of Rumanian troops has been sent to the Dobroudja zone.

The troops are under orders to disperse a band of 600 Macedonian Comitadjas and a number of Bulgarians, the report stated.

Reports from Balkan capitals in the past week have indicated disorders on the Bulgar-Rumanian frontier. One report stated heavy casualties in fighting between Bulgarians and Rumanians. Notes of protest have been exchanged between Sofia and Bucharest in which each government charged the other with responsibility for the border incidents.

Macedonian Comitadjas as mentioned in the London dispatch are bands of roaming bandits from the mountain zones of Macedonia. At times these bands, which maintain a semi-military organization, are charged with being employed by one government or another in stirring up border disorders.

ANTICIPATES NO ATTACK ON TARIFF

CORN BELT COMMITTEE TO MEET
AT DES MOINES ON
JULY 20

Des Moines, Ia., July 16.—(UP)—No attack upon the tariff is anticipated by Governor Hammill when the corn belt committee of 22 meets here July 20 to form its program for farm relief.

"Practically I believe in protection for American labor and industries and at the same time in placing agriculture on a parity with industry," said the Iowa chief executive today.

"While I may be mistaken, I feel confident that the consensus of the committee when it meets here will be the same."

The meeting of the committee on next Tuesday will be preceded by a session of representatives of 19 different farm organizations scheduled to be held here the day previous to the Corn Belt assemblage.

These two groups are working in harmony and will meet in a joint session probably July 21, the governor stated.

23 ARE KILLED IN DULUTH ACCIDENTS, FIRST HALF OF YEAR

Duluth, July 16.—(UP)—Twenty-three persons were killed in accidents in Duluth during the first six months of 1926, the Duluth Chamber of Commerce reported today.

Only 13 were killed in accidents during the same period last year, the report said.

Eight persons lost their lives in traffic accidents this year compared with five last year. There were nine industrial accidents, four home accidents and two drownings. Injured persons numbered 133 compared with 188 last year.

WHITE HOUSE IS BEING RENOVATED

Washington, July 16.—(UP)—President Coolidge will return from his vacation to a renovated White House with the exception of the same old more or less unstable roof.

Engineers have decided after an inspection that the roof, which has exhibited weaknesses, will last safely until next summer and so the work of putting a new top on the executive mansion has been postponed until the chief executive takes his next vacation.

PLOT TO TAKE LIFE OF THE COUNTY ATTY.

TOM WELSH, WHO PROSECUTED
SIEVERS, FORMER BANKER,
REVEALS INCIDENTS

16 MEN SWORN IN AS SPECIAL
DEPUTY SHERIFFS TO
GUARD JAIL

Buffalo, Minn., July 16.—Reports of a plot to take the life of County Attorney Tom Welsh and rescue Hugh H. Sievers, former president of the First National Bank here, from jail, were revealed today by Welsh.

This development followed the verdict of a jury which found Sievers guilty of grand larceny of $23,000 from the Maple Lake State bank and the consequent sentence of 1 to 10 years in prison imposed by District Judge Arthur E. Giddings at midday.

Welsh revealed that 16 men have been sworn in as special deputy sheriffs to protect the county jail and that two of them armed with automatic pistols guard him constantly as a result of threatening letters.

These letters were received during Sievers' trial and not only threatened the life of Welsh for prosecuting the banker, but hinted at an attempt to rescue Sievers.

The import of the letters was duplicated in reports obtained by Welsh from other authoritative sources which declared that gangsters from St. Paul or Minneapolis were to try to deliver Sievers from jail if he was found guilty.

Quietly obtaining the guard for himself and Sievers, Welsh continued trying the case, but now that the banker has been convicted he made the details public.

The special grand jury which is to meet a week from next Wednesday may be asked to investigate the threats, Welsh said.

Sievers had been on trial for three weeks, accused of aiding and abetting Carl M. Melberg, former president of the Maple Lake State bank, in the grand larceny of $23,000 from the Maple Lake State bank, while Melberg was president. Melberg is to be tried later. He has been a patient in Asbury hospital at Minneapolis since an automobile accident.

With the court room filled with spectators and many persons standing along the walls, the case finally was given to the jury late Thursday. Two hours later the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Judge Arthur E. Giddings of the Wright county district court passed sentence at midnight, being 1 to 10 years in the Stillwater penitentiary.

Among those who heard the verdict was Mrs. Sievers, who had been in attendance at the trial since it started. She was overcome and had to be assisted from the court room. Later she was placed in the care of a physician.

Sievers was taken down to his cell in the basement of the court house, from which he can see across the street to his $25,000 home, one of the show places of Buffalo.

In his closing argument P. A. Wells of Chicago, attorney for Sievers, declared he was convinced Sievers was innocent of any wrong doing and that the bank's condition was due to the war.

"If Sievers is guilty 90 per cent of the bankers in the country are guilty," Wells said. "Sievers was a citizen of Buffalo and not a promoter. He might have used poor judgment as president of the bank but he was not a criminal."

"The burden of the Melberg case is being placed on the shoulders of Sievers. Witnesses against him have the disposition of hyenas and the sympathy of crocodiles. Sievers has been persecuted to cover the misdeeds of others after he sacrificed his self ambition and pride for the benefit of the bank."

The Sievers case was but one of several involving four Wright and Sherburn county banks, the First National Bank of Buffalo, the Big Lake State bank, the Maple Lake State bank and the Hanover State bank.

S. M. Strand of Minneapolis is charged with grand larceny $15,000 from the Maple Lake State bank; Henry Unschild of Minneapolis, with grand larceny of $6,500 from the Hanover State bank, and M. P. Williams, formerly of Big Lake, with the same offense as Unschild.

These men and Melberg are to go to trial, but meanwhile the Wright county grand jury has been summoned

MERRY PRICE WAR ON GASOLINE IN TWIN CITIES

St. Paul, July 16.—(UP)—A gasoline price war in the twin cities was instituted today in the action of an independent concern in reducing prices 4.2 cents a gallon.

The reduction was announced by the Wilhelm Oil company, which precipitated price slashing competition three years ago that dropped gasoline prices six cents a gallon. The company put its new price of 20 cents a gallon into effect today.

The margin of profit between the price of refineries and filling stations is "unjustifiable" and an immense over production of gasoline exists, Alvin W. Gutterstrom, president of the company, said today.

TWO POSSIBLE CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT

GOVERNOR AL SMITH WELCOMES
PRES. COOLIDGE AT LUNCHEON

HOW MR. COOLIDGE, USUALLY
TACITURN, WILL REACT, IS PROBLEMATIC

By JOHN MONTGOMERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paul Smith, N. Y., July 16.—Two possible candidates in the 1928 presidential elections will meet for the first time today over a luncheon table.

The occasion will be the official welcome of the state of New York to President Coolidge by Governor Al Smith.

But as formal sounding as this may appear White House attaches are expecting little ceremony. Governor Smith seldom stands on ritual. How Mr. Coolidge, taciturn and formal, will react to the governor, is causing considerable conjecture.

The difference in make-up of the two men was manifest in the earlier announcements of today's visit by the governor and the White House spokesman.

"Well, I guess I'll take the madame and a couple of adieus over to White Pine Camp and see the president," the governor was quoted as saying when notified of the president's arrival in the Adirondacks.

"I expect the governor to pay a visit some time during the summer," the president's spokesman said briefly in Washington several weeks ago.

Politics will be taboo in the luncheon conversation, it was said. There is little ground in the political field on which the two men can meet. Discussion may be limited to the beauties of the Adirondacks and the coolness of the weather here.

But Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Smith are sure to find a great many topics of conversation.

UNKNOWN MAN FOUND IN RAIL WRECK, LIVERPOOL

East Liverpool, July 16.—(UP)—An unidentified man was brought to the city hospital here this morning from the scene of a Pennsylvania passenger train wreck near Summitville and the hospital was notified to prepare to receive at least 15 others. The man, an unidentified passenger, was believed seriously injured. Ambulances, physicians and nurses have been sent to the scene from here.

DECISION AFFECTS CUYUNA RANGE MINE

Duluth, July 16.—(UP)—Back royalties of approximately $4,000 will be paid by the Sagamore Iron Company to the Ash Iron Company following a decision handed down by Judge W. A. Cant.

The decision concerning back royalties involves the legal construction of a mining lease and the basis of computation of royalty that will affect the lease of the holdings obtained by the Sagamore company from the Ash company on property in Crow Wing county.

DON R. MELLETT, CANTON, OHIO, IS VICTIM OF SLAYER

14 SHOTS FIRED BY THE ASSASSIN INTO HOUSE WHERE MELLETT ENTERTAINED

2 BULLETS LODGED IN NEWSPAPERMAN'S HEAD, KILLING
HIM INSTANTLY

Canton, O., July 16.—(UP)—Don R. Mellett, 36, publisher of the Canton Daily News, one of the newspapers owned by former Governor James M. Cox, was shot to death by an unknown assailant outside his home here early today.

Fourteen shots were fired by the assassin, some of them into the house where Mellett and his wife were entertaining a party of friends. Two of the bullets lodged in Mellett's head, killing him almost instantly.

The party had returned late to the Mellett home and was in the house where the publisher's wife was preparing a lunch. Mellett had gone outside to put his car in the garage and the shooting took place when he started back to the house.

Motive and identity of the assassin is a mystery. Neighbors aroused by the shots were on the scene almost immediately, but none saw the publisher's assailant. It is believed he got away quickly in a waiting automobile.

Mellett had been active in municipal reform movements since he came here a year ago to take charge of the Cox newspaper. He was a central figure in a controversy that raged for months over the ousting of Police Chief S. A. Lengel.

Mayor S. M. Swarts led the fight which brought suspension to the head of the police department on charges of inefficiency. He was later restored to office by the civil service commission and the county court of common pleas upheld the reinstatement. Later the mayor filed removal charges against three civil service commissioners.

Judge A. W. Angler granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the mayor, from hearing the removal charges and asked the supreme court to assign another judge to the case.

Through all this procedure Mellett was prominent on the side of Mayor Swarts.

Mellett received a number of threatening letters last week and until yesterday had a special officer guarding his home. Neighbors reported seeing three men in a large automobile bearing a Pennsylvania license driving back and forth on the side street near the home yesterday, they reported today.

"Mrs. Mellett" lays all the blame for the murder on the police department," Chief Lengel said today.

"She said a lot of things in her hysterics that we won't consider. The Daily Mail has been criticizing the police department. That may have led her to do the things she did."

Neighbors, who were the first to the scene of the murder, said two shots were fired at Mrs. Mellett who was visible through the kitchen window.

Mrs. Mellett was on the verge of collapse this morning.

Besides his widow Mellett leaves three daughters and a son, ranging in age from 3 to 12 years. Three brothers in newspaper work. Lloyd is city editor of the Canton Daily News; Lowell is connected with the Scripps-Howard league at Washington, and a third brother lives in Indiana.

With less than 24 hours intervening since the murder there is every indication that the shots that killed young Mellett will rip open Ohio's smoldering political situation with an explosion unprecedented in a decade. Canton, the scene of a bitter factional fight covering the last two years, largely revolving about the handling of the prohibition question, is seething with excitement.

Messages have already been exchanged between civic leaders and the office of Governor Donahey of Columbus and that of United States District Attorney Bernstein in Cleveland. It is known that on July 7, Mellett called on Governor Donahey in an effort to keep two Canton men in the state penitentiary, where they had been sent following an investigation of the Canton vice situation.

Boston, July 16.—Four indictments, one of them secret, were returned by the county grand jury today in connection with the death of Miss Edith Louis Green, 19 year old victim of the Mattapan, Mass., box murder.

Miss Green's body, cut into eight pieces, was found this week in three boxes at the Mattapan cemetery.

RUMANIA SENDS TROOPS INTO FRONTIER QUARREL

London, July 16.—(UP)—The Exchange Telegraph Vienna correspondent has a Bucharest report that a strong force of Rumanian troops has been sent to the Dobroudja zone.

The troops are under orders to disperse a band of 600 Macedonian Comitatdjas and a number of Bulgarians, the report stated.

Reports from Balkan capitals in the past week have indicated disorders on the Bulgar-Rumanian frontier. One report stated heavy casualties in fighting between Bulgarians and Rumanians. Notes of protest have been exchanged between Sofia and Bucharest in which each government charged the other with responsibility for the border incidents.

Macedonian Comitatdjas mentioned in the London dispatch are bands of roaming bandits from the mountain zones of Macedonia. At times these bands, which maintain a semi-military organization, are charged with being employed by one government or another in stirring up border disorders.

ANTICIPATES NO ATTACK ON TARIFF

CORN BELT COMMITTEE TO MEET
AT DES MOINES ON
JULY 20

Des Moines, Ia., July 16.—(UP)—No attack upon the tariff is anticipated by Governor Hammill when the corn belt committee of 22 meets here July 20 to form its program for farm relief.

"Practically I believe in protection for American labor and industries and at the same time in placing agriculture on a parity with industry," said the Iowa chief executive today.

"While I may be mistaken, I feel confident that the consensus of the committee when it meets here will be the same."

The meeting of the committee on Tuesday will be preceded by a session of representatives of 19 different farm organizations scheduled to be held here the day previous to the Corn Belt assemblage.

These two groups are working in harmony and will meet in a joint session probably July 21, the governor stated.

23 ARE KILLED IN DULUTH ACCIDENTS, FIRST HALF OF YEAR

Duluth, July 16.—(UP)—Twenty-three persons were killed in accidents in Duluth during the first six months of 1926, the Duluth Chamber of Commerce reported today.

Only 13 were killed in accidents during the same period last year, the report said.

Eight persons lost their lives in traffic accidents this year compared with five last year. There were nine industrial accidents, four home accidents and two drownings. Injured persons numbered 133 compared with 188 last year.

WHITE HOUSE IS BEING RENOVATED

Washington, July 16.—(UP)—President Coolidge will return from his vacation to a renovated White House with the exception of the same old more or less unstable roof.

Engineers have decided after an inspection that the roof, which has exhibited weaknesses, will last safely until next summer and so the work of putting a new top on the executive mansion has been postponed until the chief executive takes his next vacation.

S. M. Strand of Minneapolis is charged with grand larceny $15,000 from the Maple Lake State bank; Henry Unschild of Minneapolis, with grand larceny of $6,500 from the Hanover State bank, and M. P. Williams, formerly of Big Lake, with the same offense as Unschild.

These men and Melberg are to go to trial, but meanwhile the Wright county grand jury has been summoned

PLOT TO TAKE LIFE OF THE COUNTY ATTY.

TOM WELSH, WHO PROSECUTED
SIEVERS, FORMER BANKER,
REVEALS INCIDENTS

16 MEN SWORN IN AS SPECIAL
DEPUTY SHERIFFS TO
GUARD JAIL

Buffalo, Minn., July 16.—Reports of a plot to take the life of County Attorney Tom Welsh and rescue Hugh H. Sievers, former president of the First National Bank here, from jail, were revealed today by Welsh.

This development followed the verdict of a jury which found Sievers guilty of grand larceny of $23,000 from the Maple Lake State bank and the consequent sentence of 1 to 10 years in prison imposed by District Judge Arthur E. Giddings at midday.

Welsh revealed that 16 men have been sworn in as special deputy sheriffs to protect the county jail and that two of them armed with automatic pistols guard him constantly as a result of threatening letters.

These letters were received during Sievers' trial and not only threatened the life of Welsh for prosecuting the banker, but hinted at an attempt to rescue Sievers.

The import of the letters was duplicated in reports obtained by Welsh from other authoritative sources which declared that gangsters from St. Paul or Minneapolis were to try to deliver Sievers from jail if he was found guilty.

Quietly obtaining the guard for himself and Sievers, Welsh continued trying the case, but now that the banker has been convicted he made the details public.

The special grand jury which is to meet a week from next Wednesday may be asked to investigate the threats, Welsh said.

Sievers had been on trial for three weeks, accused of aiding and abetting Carl M. Melberg, former president of the Maple Lake State bank, in the grand larceny of $23,000 from the Maple Lake State bank, while Melberg was president. Melberg is to be tried later. He has been a patient in Asbury hospital at Minneapolis since an automobile accident.

With the court room filled with spectators and many persons standing along the walls, the case finally was given to the jury late Thursday. Two hours later the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Judge Arthur E. Giddings of the Wright county district court passed sentence at midnight, being 1 to 10 years in the Stillwater penitentiary.

Among those who heard the verdict was Mrs. Sievers, who had been in attendance at the trial since it started. She was overcome and had to be assisted from the court room. Later she was placed in the care of a physician.

Sievers was taken down to his cell in the basement of the court house, from which he can see across the street to his $25,000 home, one of the show places of Buffalo.

In his closing argument P. A. Wells of Chicago, attorney for Sievers, declared he was convinced Sievers was innocent of any wrong doing and that the bank's condition was due to the war.

"If Sievers is guilty 90 per cent of the bankers in the country are guilty," Wells said. "Sievers was a citizen of Buffalo and not a promoter. He might have used poor judgment as president of the bank but he was not a criminal."

"The burden of the Melberg case is being placed on the shoulders of Sievers. Witnesses against him have the disposition of hyenas and the sympathy of crocodiles. Sievers has been persecuted to cover the misdeeds of others after he sacrificed his self ambition and pride for the benefit of the bank."

The Sievers case was but one of several involving four Wright and Sherburn county banks, the First National Bank of Buffalo, the Big Lake State bank, the Maple Lake State bank and the Hanover State bank.

S. M. Strand of Minneapolis is charged with grand larceny $15,000 from the Maple Lake State bank; Henry Unschild of Minneapolis, with grand larceny of $6,500 from the Hanover State bank, and M. P. Williams, formerly of Big Lake, with the same offense as Unschild.

These men and Melberg are to go to trial, but meanwhile the Wright county grand jury has been summoned

MERRY PRICE WAR ON GASOLINE IN TWIN CITIES

St. Paul, July 16.—(UP)—A gasoline price war in the twin cities was instituted today in the action of an independent concern in reducing prices 4.2 cents a gallon.

The reduction was announced by the Wilhelm Oil company, which precipitated price slashing competition three years ago that dropped gasoline prices six cents a gallon. The company put its new price of 20 cents a gallon in to effect today.

The margin of profit between the price of refineries and filling stations is "unjustifiable" and an immense over production of gasoline exists, Alvin W. Gunterson, president of the company, said today.

TWO POSSIBLE CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT

PRES. COOLIDGE AT
LUNCHEON

HOW MR. COOLIDGE, USUALLY
TACITURN, WILL REACT, IS PROBLEMATIC

By JOHN MONTGOMERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paul Smith, N. Y., July 16.—Two possible candidates in the 1928 presidential elections will meet for the first time today over a luncheon table.

The occasion will be the official welcome of the state of New York to President Coolidge by Governor Al Smith.

But as formal sounding as this may appear White House attaches are expecting little ceremony. Governor Smith seldom stands on ritual. How Mr. Coolidge, taciturn and formal, will react to the governor, is causing considerable conjecture.

The difference in make-up of the two men was manifest in the earlier announcements of today's visit by the governor and the White House spokesman.

"Well, I guess I'll take the madame and a couple of aides over to White Pine Camp and see the president," the governor was quoted as saying when notified of the president's arrival in the Adirondacks.

"I expect the governor to pay a visit some time during the summer," the president's spokesman said briefly in Washington several weeks ago.

Politics will be taboo in the luncheon conversation, it was said. There is little ground in the political field on which the two men can meet. Discussion may be limited to the beauties of the Adirondacks and the coolness of the weather here.

But Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Smith are sure to find a great many topics of conversation.

Duluth, July 16.—(UP)—Back royalties of approximately $4,000 will be paid by the Sagamore Iron Company to the Ash Iron Company following a decision handed down by Judge W. A. Cant.

The decision concerning back royalties involves the legal construction of a mining lease and the basis of computation of royalty that will affect the lease of the holdings obtained by the Sagamore company from the Ash company on property in Crow Wing county.

DON R. MELLETT, CANTON, OHIO, IS VICTIM OF SLAYER

14 SHOTS FIRED BY THE ASSAS-SIN INTO HOUSE WHERE MELLETT'S ENTERTAINED

2 BULLETS LODGED IN NEWSPAP-ERMAN'S HEAD, KILLING
HIM INSTANTLY

Canton, O., July 16.—(UP)—Don R. Mellett, 36, publisher of the Canton Daily News, one of the newspapers owned by former Governor James M. Cox, was shot to death by an unknown assailant outside his home here early today.

Fourteen shots were fired by the assassin, some of them into the house where Mellett and his wife were entertaining a party of friends. Two of the bullets lodged in Mellett's head, killing him almost instantly.

The party had returned late to the Mellett home and was in the house where the publisher's wife was preparing a lunch. Mellett had gone outside to put his car in the garage and the shooting took place when he started back to the house.

Motive and identity of the assassin is a mystery. Neighbors aroused by the shots were on the scene almost immediately, but none saw the publisher's assailant. It is believed he got away quickly in a waiting automobile.

Mellett had been active in municipal reform movements since he came here a year ago to take charge of the Cox newspaper. He was a central figure in a controversy that raged for months over the ousting of Police Chief S. A. Lengel.

Mayor S. M. Swarts led the fight which brought suspension to the head of the police department on charges of inefficiency. He was later restored to office by the civil service commission and the county court of common pleas upheld the reinstatement. Later the mayor filed removal charges against three civil service commissioners.

Judge A. W. Angler granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the mayor from hearing the removal charges and asked the supreme court to assign another judge to the case.

Through all this procedure Mellett was prominent on the side of Mayor Swarts.

Mellett received a number of threatening letters last week and until yesterday had a special officer guarding his home. Neighbors reported seeing three men in a large automobile bearing a Pennsylvania license driving back and forth on the side street near the home yesterday, they reported today.

"Mrs. Mellett" lays all the blame for the murder on the police department," Chief Lengel said today.

"She said a lot of things in her hysterics that we won't consider. The Daily Mail has been criticizing the police department. That may have led her to do the things she did."

Neighbors, who were the first to the scene of the murder, said two shots were fired at Mrs. Mellett who was visible through the kitchen window.

Mrs. Mellett was on the verge of collapse this morning.

Besides his widow Mellett leaves three daughters and a son, ranging in age from 3 to 12 years. Three brothers in newspaper work. Lloyd is city editor of the Canton Daily News; Lowell is connected with the Scripps-Howard league at Washington, and a third brother lives in Indiana.

With less than 24 hours intervening since the murder there is every indication that the shots that killed young Mellett will rip open Ohio's smoldering political situation with an explosion unprecedented in a decade. Canton, the scene of a bitter factional fight covering the last two years, largely revolving about the handling of the prohibition question, is seething with excitement. Messages have already been exchanged between civic leaders and the office of Governor Donahoe of Columbus and that of United States District Attorney Bernstein in Cleveland. It is known that on July 7, Mellett called on Governor Donahoe in an effort to keep two Canton men in the state penitentiary, where they had been sent following an investigation of the Canton vice situation.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THANK-YOU'S COMPANION

"Thank You."

He was a good-natured creature, not particularly remarkable, and not particularly clever, but well-meaning and pleasant and nice.

Thank-You's companion was named "Don't-Mention-It."

You probably have often seen them together.

Or, at least, you have heard them when they have been holding one of their conversations.

Thank-You never speaks when the companion is along, too, without the companion adding his little name-speech to the talk.

They do not let their speeches be said by the same person. Each shows that he is a separate individual by each having a different person make his speech.

For instance you will hear one person say:

"Thank you."

And you will hear the other person say:

"Don't mention it."

Well, when you hear these two speeches, made by two different people, yet who are speaking together, you will know that Thank-You and Don't-Mention-It are around.

Thank-You will suggest to one person that he use his name, and Don't-Mention-It will suggest to the other that he answer by using his name.

Well, one day Thank-You and Don't-Mention-It were off having a little picnic together.

They each talked in the funniest way you can imagine. Whenever Thank-You took a sandwich or a glass of ginger ale or a piece of cake he would say to the sandwich or the glass of ginger ale or the piece of cake:

"Thank you."

Whenever Don't-Mention-It took a sandwich or a glass of ginger ale or a piece of cake, he would say to the sandwich or the glass of ginger ale or the piece of cake:

"Don't mention it."

They were so in the habit of making these speeches they just talked that way to the food they were eating.

And instead of Don't-Mention-It thanking for what he was eating he never thanked anything or anyone but just said: "Don't mention it."

"Really," Don't-Mention-It said after they had finished the picnic, "I am a silly fellow and perhaps I'm not so polite after all."

"When you say 'thank you' I say 'don't mention it'."

"But I say it after you have mentioned it. I don't tell you ahead of time not to thank or not to bother about mentioning or speaking any thanks or appreciation."

"I say it afterward."

"I don't know that I'm very sensible or very polite."

"Oh, yes," said Thank-You, "that's all right. It's right for me to thank and it's right for you to say: 'Don't mention it.'"

"For when you say that, it means that you accept my thanks but that you consider you should not accept too many thanks and that it was a pleasure to do for me."

"Oh, very well," said, Don't-Mention-It, "of course I'm at least well-meaning even if I'm not a brilliant fellow. You're so much finer a looking gnome-chap somehow."

"I don't know that I would say that," said Thank-You, "but thank you, just the same."

Called Hunter Cannibal Although cannibalism is said to be extinct among the untamed Indians of northern Matto Grosso, in the wilderness regions of Brazil, Francis Gow Smith, an American explorer, recently was himself mistaken for a cannibal by the Bororo Indians there.

Writing in World's Work, Mr. Smith tells of having shot a deer shortly before reaching a Bororo village. Arrived there, the Indians, usually peaceful, threatened violence. Mr. Smith was rescued by a Catholic missionary, who explained that the natives regarded the deer as their ancestor, and a person who killed one for food as a cannibal.

"There," he said, after reading it out loud to his wife, "that's the best thing I've ever done. It's equal to Poe or Ambrose Bierce."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THANK-YOU'S COMPANION

Thank-You's companion used to go about with him a great deal.

He was a good-natured creature, not particularly remarkable, and not particularly clever, but well-meaning and pleasant and nice.

Thank-You's companion was named "Don't-Mention-It."

You probably have often seen them together. Or, at least, you have heard them when they have been holding one of their conversations.

Thank-You never speaks when the companion is along, too, without the companion adding his little name-speech to the talk.

They do not let their speeches be said by the same person. Each shows that he is a separate individual by each having a different person make his speech.

For instance you will hear one person say:

"Thank you."

And you will hear the other person say:

"Don't mention it."

Well, when you hear these two speeches, made by two different people, yet who are speaking together, you will know that Thank-You and Don't-Mention-It are around.

Thank-You will suggest to one person that he use his name, and Don't-Mention-It will suggest to the other that he answer by using his name.

Well, one day Thank-You and Don't-Mention-It were off having a little picnic together.

They each talked in the funniest way you can imagine. Whenever Thank-You took a sandwich or a glass of ginger ale or a piece of cake he would say to the sandwich or the glass of ginger ale or the piece of cake:

"Thank you."

Whenever Don't-Mention-It took a sandwich or a glass of ginger ale or a piece of cake, he would say to the sandwich or the glass of ginger ale or the piece of cake:

"Don't-Mention-It."

They were so in the habit of making these speeches they just talked that way to the food they were eating.

And instead of Don't-Mention-It thanking for what he was eating he never thanked anything or anyone but just said: "Don't mention it."

"Really," Don't-Mention-It said after they had finished the picnic, "I am a silly fellow and perhaps I'm not so polite after all."

"When you say 'thank you' I say 'don't mention it'."

"But I say it after you have mentioned it. I don't tell you ahead of time not to thank or not to bother about mentioning or speaking any thanks or appreciation."

"I say it afterward."

"I don't know that I'm very sensible or very polite."

"Oh, yes," said Thank-You, "that's all right. It's right for me to thank you and it's right for you to say: 'Don't mention it'."

"For when you say that, it means that you accept my thanks but that you consider you should not accept too many thanks and that it was a pleasure to do for me."

"Oh, what you say is all right," said, Don't-Mention-It, "of course I'm at least well-meaning even if I'm not a brilliant fellow. You're so much finer a looking gnome-chap somehow."

"I don't know that I would say that," said Thank-You, "but thank you, just the same."

"Don't mention it," said Don't-Mention-It.

Called Hunter Cannibal

Although cannibalism is said to be extinct among the untamed Indians of northern Matto Grosso, in the wilderness regions of Brazil, Francis Gow Smith, an American explorer, recently was himself mistaken for a cannibal by the Bororo Indians there.

Writing in World's Work, Mr. Smith tells of having shot a deer shortly before reaching a Bororo village. Arrived there, the Indians, usually peaceful, threatened violence. Mr. Smith was rescued by a Catholic missionary, who explained that the natives regarded the deer as their ancestor, and a person who killed one for food as a cannibal.

The Weary Round

"A magazine," said Charles Hanson Towne, the poet and essayist, at a reception in New York—"a magazine must come down to the popular taste, or else it must go up. That's why magazines accept the worst and reject the best."

A talented novelist recently wrote a short story.

"There," he said, after reading it out loud to his wife, "that's the best thing I've ever done. It's equal to Poe or Ambrose Bierce."

"Yes, darling, it is," his wife agreed. "Yes, it sure is. And what magazine will you submit it to first?"

Cloth From Human Hair

A section of a large factory located at Amiens, France, is being fitted up for the manufacture of cloth from human hair. The cloth is used for the filtering of heavy oil and similar products—the phenomenal strength of the hair enabling it to withstand high pressure. The hair used comes from China and Japan, as the coarser hair of the oriental is the only kind strong enough for this service.—Compressed Air Magazine.

Revival of Lace in Paris Styles

Gold, Silver, Colors Have Extended Use of This Popular Fabric.

The revival of lace for use in trousseaux has every regard for fashion. Gold, silver and colors, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Times, have extended its use far beyond the limitations of the old black and white, without, however, superseding them. It is definitely recognized that while lace wedding veils are a tradition, plain white tulle is nearly always more becoming, and lace is made today to be cut ruthlessly into the required shape. Its use is widespread. There is practically no garment that could not use it in some capacity, except, perhaps, the stricter sports dresses. Older women are rejoicing in the softening effect of lace collars, jabots and revers. Whole lace dresses vie with lace and georgette and other mixtures. Black and white lace, nevertheless, remain the smartest among all the lace fashions.

Lace is widely used on evening or afternoon dresses. Heavy black Spanish lace may be sewn together with black chiffon, keeping to the straight simple outlines of the moment, but having a very rich superficial effect. Black chiffon is also used over petticoats of thick black lace, which appear rough below it. Lace is not only flounced in the tiered dresses but is plaited as well. In the latter case

Afternoon Dress of Black Chiffon Lace and Black Satin.

It is of cobweb consistency. Thin lace and thick lace are used together. Very spidery white lace is sometimes plaited very slightly and worn over black lace. The faint lines of the plaits cut agreeably across the patterns of both layers.

On the picture dresses lace is used for the panniers or for the full serrated skirts that go with them. The lace fichu has also been revived, though it is apt to tie anywhere but in front. A favorite method is to knot it on the shoulder of the low neck, rather as handkerchiefs were knotted a year or two ago. Dinner dresses of lace might be described as handsome. Here black is most in vogue, white being reserved for dance frocks. Where lace and georgette are mixed the accentuating lines are produced by the emphasis either of the lace or georgette. In dresses made of other materials the extras are frequently made of lace. Plain chiffon dresses have "dalmatics," or sleeveless coats of lace. Sometimes the coats only reach the waist, and, being loose behind, have the effect of a cape.

Need of Change
A French professor states that "living beings, in order to remain young, have need of change." He might have added that they need quite a lot of change to remain comfortably on this earth at all.

Belfry Trouble

David, age five, was playing carpenter. Nancy, age three, stood watching him. David pounded and pounded with his hammer on the various nails and boards, making a great deal of racket. Nancy at last could stand it no longer and, putting her hand to her head, she said, "Oh, David, please stop, that makes my attic hurt so bad."

South St. Paul, July 16.—(UP)—A bull which escaped from a truck and went on a rampage here today roamed at will through the business district of the city for an hour before it was shot and killed.

Hundreds of pedestrians fled to cover as the animal charged down the street and Joseph Hentich, 4, playing in the yard of his home, was knocked down by the bull and slightly hurt.

Rochester, Minn., July 16.—(UP)—While a fire raged in the Tri-State Telephone company's exchange here at 3 a. m. today operators in the local room remained at their boards and continued giving service.

Three new circuits were installed by workmen six hours after the fire and regular toll service will be resumed in a few days. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

AT THEIR BOARDS

Rochester, Minn., July 16.—(UP)—While a fire raged in the Tri-State Telephone company's exchange here at 3 a. m. today operators in the local room remained at their boards and continued giving service. The fire destroyed the long distance board and cut Rochester from communication with the outside world. The blaze destroyed 26 regular toll circuits, tying up the busiest toll service in southern Minnesota. Local circuits were not affected. Three new circuits were installed by workmen six hours after the fire and regular toll service will be resumed in a few days. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1926

HE'S NOT A BIT AUSTERE

SOME people have an idea that Governor Theodore Christianson is an austere sort of person. That's not the case at all. While holding down the job of governor at the capital and confronted with many matters of state, it's no wonder the gubernatorial brow gets wrinkled and a strained look grows apace on his face. And he has been working very hard, for this economy program whether it is national with President Coolidge or a state matter as with Governor Christianson, is a serious matter.

A few days ago the governor decided upon a vacation and he selected the best place in the world, one of the lakes near Brainerd. The governor and his wife and other relatives are at Velvet lake. The chief executive of the sovereign state of Minnesota visited THE BRAINERD DISPATCH office yesterday and he recounted with real glee about the fish he had caught, his catch exceeding the best that President Coolidge or Secretary of Agriculture Jardine had accomplished.

"My mother-in-law, who is really no fisherman, caught an 18 pound pike," said the governor. When the women folks, inexperienced as they are, can catch such fish, we leave it your imagination what a governor may catch.

The governor spoke about his boy Robert who will enter university this fall. He is employed with a road crew at Elk River, earning 30 cents an hour.

"I believe in starting a boy at the bottom," said the governor. "He is starting that way working 10 hours a day. When we passed him, his face was black with grime and cement, his clothes were covered with cement. My theory is to start a man at the bottom, to build a real foundation for a man similar to that of a building, starting in with good, hard manual labor."

The experience of Robert Christianson is no different than that of the sons of President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes. Young Coolidge has worked in the fields. Young Dawes worked in gas plants. Honest toil is a good thing.

By the way, the fish that Governor Christianson caught yesterday was a four pound pickerel. The governor didn't just like to say it, when his mother-in-law had landed the 18 pound pike.

THE GIRL SCOUTS CIRCUS

THE Girl Scouts circus as it showed last night was a good one. It carried us back to the youthful days when we played circus. Childish imagination bridges many gaps and peoples the world with strange animals and strange things.

Many of the grotesque animals were in evidence last night and performed as though made of real flesh and blood. The sanguinary encounter between the ostrich and the gazookis carried us back, in a sort of reincarnation stage, to the time when our stone age ancestors sat on the brow of a cliff and watched animals millions of years ago fight it out in the antediluvian swamps. And when the gazookis broke its neck, in the circus fight, it was just an indication that victory does not always lodge with the greatest brute strength, but more often perches on the banners of the crafty, small brained ostrich. The latter bird, by the way, did all its fighting with its beak and didn't use its feet.

The two-tailed lamb was not in evidence, at least we couldn't find it. But a six-legged pig was there in its place. We believe that six-legged pigs should be encouraged. Think of it! Such an animal has two more hams, picnic size probably, than the ordinary four-legged porker.

Native talent in the showmanship line was there in abundance. That little Hill girl is a self-trained acrobat and turned all the flop-flops and tied herself in all the knots that professionals under a big top can do.

John J. Cummins added real aplomb and dignity to the ring master job. It was hot and John's soft collar wilted and the kids encroached upon his domain and dodging the giraffes and elephants and gazookies and polo games, and blowing his whistle, etc., etc., John had a busy job.

The show was so good that many people will go again tonight.

NEWSPAPERS AND THEIR MISSION

THE Bemidji Sentinel in a recent editorial covers the work of newspapers and their mission in life. There is no other business institution quite the parallel of the newspaper. The so-called public utilities and public service corporations are in the business of furnishing transportation, communication, power and other service to the public, but from the viewpoint of the stockholders their primary purpose in business is profit for themselves and not public service. They are not different from other industries and businesses except that they are brought under close government control.

But the newspaper is essentially different. It is a private and yet a public business. Both owner and community lose when the former fails to recognize the public's part ownership in his business. The newspaper that does not exist for the good of its community first and the profit of its publisher last seldom achieves either.

Newspaper readers have an inalienable right to demand certain things from their home town paper, or any other paper for that matter. And they have the means with which to enforce those demands.

This eccentric position of the newspaper can be traced back to its early history and the very inspiration for its inception. The idea of the newspaper was conceived as a weapon for the defense of the common people against injustice, political corruption, tyranny and ignorance. This conception of the purpose of the newspaper persists even to this day in this recognition of the public's part ownership.

Maybe that accounts for the fact that everybody can tell the editor how to run his paper and that a man never in newspaper work knows just how to run the thing to make it a successful enterprise.

WE have heard of deer, crazed by the light, leaping through windshields, but the latest story on rabbits doing the same trick, must be taken with a grain of salt. The Associated Press quotes Henry Notre, former Martin county auditor, as asserting that a rabbit made a tremendous spring and crashed through the windshield of his car and into his lap. Mr. Notre contends that the rabbit must have come from some neighboring county where they still have such things as hard liquor for, he says, no sober rabbit would try to buck an automobile.

FASHIONS

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, July 16.—(UP)—Women have learned that the house must be colorful and homelike in Summer as well as in Winter. No longer do we find the furniture covered with drab linen slip covers and mirrors covered with mosquito netting. The old fashioned parlor is gone. After gazing all Winter at Wintery drapes, Madame changes her entire color scheme with new drapes, cushions, table runners and slip covers.

The materials used for Summer coverings should be chosen with care since they should last for several seasons. It does not pay to buy cheap cretonnes which fade in one season since the making of the covers costs more than the material and a good material will last from three to five years or more. There are new linens, depins and cretonne, which have the pattern extending through both sides of the material and these have wonderful wearing qualities. They come in both stripes and floral designs and are far cheaper in the long run than materials which are printed on one side and not guaranteed to be sunfast.

Greens, yellows and orange colors are lovely ones for Summer months, and where all three of these colors are combined the effect is bound to be bright and summery. Stripes are a bit newer than floral designs this season but the size of the room and of the furniture must be taken into consideration before selecting either one or the other. A room with Italian furniture looks best with slip covers combining stripes in Italian colorings. An English room requires flowered chintz or small figured material. The modern room with modern furniture may use plain material, stripes or gay patterned material. As a rule large pieces of furniture can use larger stripes or figures than can smaller pieces. However, where there are several large pieces, one must use smaller patterned materials or use plenty of plain color with the figured. For instance, a room of Italian type recently finished by a decorator, has two large couches covered with slip covers striped in green, gold and black. An overstuffed chair is covered in plain old gold and another smaller chair is covered in green and black.

It is not a good plan to have too many pieces covered with the same material. But one can use plain materials in shades of the figured goods used on the main pieces. This rule applies to striped as well as floral designed goods.

A novel room of a modern Summer home has black wicker furniture with each chair cushion of a different color. The cushions include blue, yellow, fuchsia, light green and dull rose. This combination of colors gives a decidedly summery effect at small expense.

FRENCH, BELGIAN
FRANCS CONTINUE
TO LOW LEVELS

Paris, July 16.—(UP)—French and Belgian francs continued to depreciate to low levels today despite efforts in Brussels and Paris to devise extraordinary means to prevent repetitions of a catastrophe such as overtook the German mark.

The French franc fell to a new low record on the bourse today when one dollar would buy 50.03 francs and one pound sterling would buy 204.50.

Little Visits

Around the Rural Section

Written especially for the Dispatch
by W. H. Triplett, travelling editor for this paper and The Farmer of St.
Paul.

W. H. Triplett

Luck seemed to be against me this morning as the very first thing one of the tires picked up a nail and of course called for immediate attention. After this little job was finished proceeded on my way to N. C. Nubbe's place. Mr. Nubbe is running a dairy and delivering the milk to patrons in Brainerd. He has 16 cows of mixed breed that are all high producers. He has been farming the place which consists of 80 acres for the last two years. I noticed that the small grain on the place looked good but he plans on cutting it for hay as he figures more can be saved by so doing, than if he harvested it and paid threshing and twine bills. More than 40 per cent of all the hay grown in the southeastern coast states, is from small grains. When intended for hay, the cereal grasses should be cut while the grain is in the early milk stage, at which time the stems and leaves may be cured into a bright, dust-free hay of good quality. Cereal crops which have lodged badly because of overrich soil or excessive rainfall may often be advantageously converted into hay.

A. M. Hames was helping his neighbors across the road. Mr. Nelson and Mrs. Kofmehl, in making hay. Mr. Hames has five highgrade Guernsey cows and a purebred sire at the head of the herd. He, too, is one of the group of ex-service men that came here from Brookings, S. D., and bought land two years ago. He has 40 acres and has it well improved considering the short time he has been on the place. This writer noticed a mighty fine flock of poultry in the yard which shows that Mr. Hames is a good poultryman as well as a good dairyman. Mr. Hames spent 11 months overseas with the 90th division.

Mr. Kofmehl and Mr. Nelson are two good hearted bachelors and both ex-service men. Mr. Kofmehl served with 5th division and Mr. Nelson with the 77th. They have 50 acres each but live together in Mr. Kofmehl's house. At present they are milking four cows of Holstein breed but plan on increasing the herd in the fall. A pure bred sire is at the head of the herd. One thing the writer has noticed in visiting the ex-service men is that they all have purebred or highgrade stock and good flocks of poultry, all good buildings, though small. They realize the value of these things and it will have an influence in bettering the entire community. Mr. Synhorst is another of this group whom I have not yet visited, but can safely say he is keeping up with the others and I expect to see him within a day or two.

Oscar Thelander is one of our early settlers in the community, settling on the place in 1886. The past six years he has been renting the farm out but still makes use of the farmstead. He remarked that when he first came to the country he used ox teams for power. Where hay was being made on the place yesterday, he said the water was so deep it run into a wagon box in the first few years he was there. Mrs. Alton Thelander of Detroit is visiting her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thelander, and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. August Erickson.

John Handlan came here from Iowa 29 years ago and has farmed 80 acres since. From all appearances he has been successful. He has become tired of seeing corn fodder go to waste in the fields and is going to remedy the problem by building a silo. Mr. Kabrick who moved from Illinois this spring, is building the silo for him. Mr. Handlan is milking 12 cows of mixed breed which average 4 per cent test. He remarked that he sure would like to join a cow testing association and would be one of the first signers if one were started. Mr. Handlan makes about the 12th man we have talked to in the last two weeks who would like to belong to such an association as they believe they could profit by doing so. I certainly agree with them and will do my part in helping to get one started.

FASHIONS

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, July 16.—(UP)—Women have learned that the house must be colorful and homelike in Summer as well as in Winter. No longer do we find the furniture covered with drab linen slip covers and mirrors covered with mosquito netting. The old fashioned parlor is gone. After gazing all Winter at Wintery drapes, Madame changes her entire color scheme with new drapes, cushions, table runners and slip covers.

The materials used for Summer coverings should be chosen with care since they should last for several seasons. It does not pay to buy cheap cretonnes which fade in one season since the making of the covers costs more than the material and a good material will last from three to five years or more. There are new linens, depims and cretonne, which have the pattern extending through both sides of the material and these have wonderful wearing qualities. They come in both stripes and floral designs and are far cheaper in the long run than materials which are printed on one side and not guaranteed to be sunfast.

Greens, yellows and orange colors are lovely ones for Summer months, and where all three of these colors are combined the effect is bound to be bright and summery. Stripes are a bit newer than floral designs this season but the size of the room and of the furniture must be taken into consideration before selecting either one or the other. A room with Italian furniture looks best with slip covers combining stripes in Italian colorings. An English room requires flowered chintz or small figured material. The modern room with modern furniture may use plain material, stripes or gay patterned material. As a rule large pieces of furniture can use larger stripes or figures than can smaller pieces. However, where there are several large pieces, one must use smaller patterned materials or use plenty of plain color with the figured. For instance, a room of Italian type recently finished by a decorator, has two large couches covered with slip covers striped in green, gold and black. An overstuffed chair is covered in plain old gold and another smaller chair is covered in green bound in black.

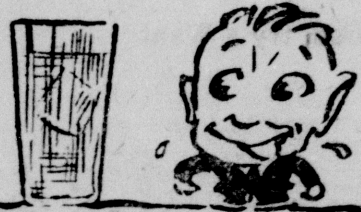

It is not a good plan to have too many pieces covered with the same material. But one can use plain materials in shades of the figured goods used on the main pieces. This rule applies to striped as well as floral designed goods.

A novel room of a modern Summer home has black wicker furniture with each chair cushion of a different color. The cushions include blue, yellow, fuchsia, light green and dull rose. This combination of colors gives a decidedly summery effect at small expense.

FRENCH, BELGIAN
FRANCS CONTINUE
TO LOW LEVELS

Paris, July 16.—(UP)—French and Belgian francs continued to depreciate to low levels today despite efforts in Brussels and Paris to devise extraordinary means to prevent repetitions of a catastrophe such as overtook the German mark.

The French franc fell to a new low record on the bourse today when one dollar would buy 50.03 francs and one pound sterling would buy 204.50.

Little Visits

Around the Rural Section

Written especially for the Dispatch by W. H. Triplett, travelling editor for this paper and The Farmer of St. Paul.

Luck seemed to be against me this morning as the very first thing one of the tires picked up a nail and of course called for immediate attention. After this little job was finished proceeded on my way to N. C. Nubbe's place. Mr. Nubbe is running a dairy and delivering the milk to patrons in Brainerd. He has 16 cows of mixed breed that are all high producers. He has been farming the place which consists of 80 acres for the last two years. I noticed that the small grain on the place looked good but he plans on cutting it for hay as he figures more can be saved by so doing, than if he harvested it and paid threshing and twine bills. More than 40 per cent of all the hay grown in the southeastern coast states, is from small grains. When intended for hay, the cereal grasses should be cut while the grain is in the early milk stage, at which time the stems and leaves may be cured into a bright, dust-free hay of good quality. Cereal crops which have lodged badly because of overrich soil or excessive rainfall may often be advantageously converted into hay.

A. M. Hames was helping his neighbors across the road, Mr. Nelson and Mrs. Kofmehl, in making hay. Mr. Hames has five highgrade Guernsey cows and a purebred sire at the head of the herd. He, too, is one of the group of ex-service men that came here from Brookings, S. D., and bought land two years ago. He has 40 acres and has it well improved considering the short time he has been on the place. This writer noticed a mighty fine flock of poultry in the yard which shows that Mr. Hames is a good poultryman as well as a good dairyman. Mr. Hames spent 11 months overseas with the 90th division.

Mr. Kofmehl and Mr. Nelson are two good hearted bachelors and both ex-service men. Mr. Kofmehl served with 5th division and Mr. Nelson with the 77th. They have 50 acres each but live together in Mr. Kofmehl's house. At present they are milking four cows of Holstein breed but plan on increasing the herd in the fall. A pure bred sire is at the head of the herd. One thing the writer has noticed in visiting the ex-service men is that they all have purebred or highgrade stock and good flocks of poultry, all good buildings, though small. They realize the value of these things and it will have an influence in bettering the entire community. Mr. Synhorst is another of this group whom I have not yet visited, but can safely say he is keeping up with the others and I expect to see him within a day or two.

Oscar Thelander is one of our early settlers in the community, settling on the place in 1886. The past six years he has been renting the farm out but still makes use of the farmstead. He remarked that when he first came to the country he used ox teams for power. Where hay was being made on the place yesterday, he said the water was so deep it ran into a wagon box in the first few years he was there. Mrs. Alton Thelander of Detroit is visiting her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thelander, and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. August Erickson.

John Handlan came here from Iowa 29 years ago and has farmed 80 acres since. From all appearances he has been successful. He has become tired of seeing corn fodder go to waste in the fields and is going to remedy the problem by building a silo. Mr. Kabrick who moved from Illinois this spring, is building the silo for him. Mr. Handlan is milking 12 cows of mixed breed which average 4 per cent test. BERLENBACH IS LUCKY AGAIN, AS USUAL

DELANEY BOUT POSTPONED BY RAIN LAST NIGHT

BERLENBACH SUFFERED TORTURES TO MAKE REQUIRED WEIGHT

IF FIGHT IS HELD TONIGHT HE DOESN'T HAVE TO WEIGH IN AGAIN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, July 16.—Paul Berlenbach, world's light heavyweight champion, was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. He came not from wealth or royalty. He used a husky pair of German hands first on the torso of amateur wrestlers, then on the steering wheel of a taxicab and then on the jaws of a series of professional pugilists.

Berlenbach, born without goods of the world, but he came into an inheritance of something bigger and better—L-U-C-K.

His friends in Astoria who have played pinochle with him, and bet on—

"Der Paulie's luck."

Berlenbach and Jack Delaney, two of the greatest light heavyweights the ring has ever known, were ready to fight last night in Brooklyn.

They weighed in before the New York boxing commission, Berlenbach 174½ pounds and Delaney 166½ pounds.

The medical examiners of the commission pronounced them perfect by every means that medical and surgical science has of discovering defects.

"I'm all right and ready to go," Berlenbach said.

"Nothing but some bad luck can beat me," Delaney said.

And then it started to rain and it continued to rain.

The postponement until tonight was announced and Delaney's bad luck turned into the proverbial good luck of Berlenbach.

Berlenbach had to go through the tortures of the damned to remove more than a pound of weight from his body in two hours before he had to step on the scales and prove that he was not more than 175 pounds, the legal weight of the division.

The rules of the commission provide that if the fight can be held tonight the fighters do not have to weigh in again and in the 24 hours intervening Berlenbach can eat heartily and live happily and come into the ring tonight at his own weight.

Delaney can do the same thing, of course, but the best he can add to his leverage will be only that of a light heavyweight.

If rain does not prevent the fight tonight Berlenbach will place himself next to Tex Rickard as the champion of luck.

Rickard in all his career extending years back never lost a fight on account of rain. His luck was so consistent that he never stooped to take rain insurance and he never wasted a dividend.

Delaney has had more hard luck than any prominent fighter in memory. He broke a hand so badly that he was saved from the referee heap only by the skill of a world's famous surgeon. He then had bad tonsils, septic poisoning that nearly killed him and then just before his second fight with Berlenbach he nearly severed a leg while playing with an axe.

BOUT MAY BE HELD TONIGHT

New York, July 16.—Bright sunshine pouring from cloudless skies and a promise of clear and warmer weather from the forecaster, made it appear almost certain this afternoon that the world's light heavyweight championship contest between Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney scheduled for tonight in Brooklyn would not be postponed again. The postponement forced late yesterday because of a heavy rain storm seemed to increase the interest in the fight as there was a large crowd of ticket seekers in the office of Humbert Fugasy this afternoon.

Detective Sergeant Daly announced this afternoon he had rounded up the heads of the gang believed to have printed and circulated a lot of counterfeit tickets. The suspects, whose names were not made public, were taken to Fugasy's office.

Fugasy asked all who had bought this type of tickets report at his office not later than 7 o'clock tonight.

FEW BATTERS ABLE TO STICK AT .320

Only 24 Since 1871 Have Hit at That Figure.

Just two dozen batsmen out of the more than 5,000 regulars who played professional baseball in the big leagues since the sport was inaugurated in 1871 have maintained a batting average of .320 or better over a ten-year period.

Of these 24 select players, eight, or one-third of the number, are playing ball today. They are: Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby, George Sisler, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth, Harry Hellmann, Eddie Roush and Eddie Collins. The first four named placed their name near the top of the heap. Only one of the ancient, Pete Browning, of the eighties, broke into the snobbish circle of swat.

Cobb with a lifetime average of .369 comes first; then Hornsby with .363; with Browning batting .353 for his dozen years of play.

The others with their averages are: Sisler, .352; Speaker, .349; James O'Neill, .348; Dan Brouthers, .348; Ed Delahanty, .346; Babe Ruth, .346; Willie Keeler, .345; W. R. Hamilton, .344; Jess Burkett, .342; Cap Anson, .341; Nap Lajoie, .338; Sam Thompson, .337; Harry Hellmann, .336; Roush, .334; John McGraw, .334; Mike Donlin, .334; Eddie Collins, .333; Hugh Duffy, .330; Hans Wagner, .329; Barry, .323; G. Van Hatten, .322.

Cobb leads those with the greatest total of hits, with 3,823, and the others with more than 3,000 are Speaker, Anson, Lajoie, Eddie Collins and Wagner.

Anson played the longest term of years—27, while Cobb and Lajoie tallied 21 each. Sisler and O'Neill have the shortest term of years in the register, with the minimum ten each.

LADIES BAND AND CONCERT BAND ON BASEBALL PROGRAM

MUSIC TO BE PART OF ENTERTAINMENT WHEN LIONS AND ROTARIANS MEET

LIONS HAVE 21 PLAYERS CLAMORING FOR PLACES ON LINE-UP

When the Rotarians and the Lions meet to settle their little duel at the municipal ball grounds next Tuesday they will play to the strains of martial music served up by two of Brainerd's bands.

The Ladies band will be out in full uniform to lend a festive air to the occasion, and the Brainerd Concert band, formerly the Boys' band, will also be in the stands to spur on the contestants with their music.

The management of both bands, when seen regarding the matter, were most willing to bring it to the attention of their players, with the result that both organizations will be on duty for the evening.

Twenty-one Lions are bounding Manager Bollens for places on their team, with a spirit of lionism spurring them on to down their Rotarian contestants. Four of the number are getting their wings in shape to set down the opposition without a hit.

For the Rotarians, one more player has been added to the line-up, with the coming forward of J. P. Anderson to offer his services. Mr. Anderson will be saved until the later innings, when runs are needed, and the fans will see him as a pinch hitter. The full line-up of each team will be given in Monday's paper.

Burgomaster Garry Herrmann's Cincinnati Reds are bringing joy to the big cardiac organ of their owner these days. BRAINERD READY FOR ISLE GAME HERE ON SUNDAY

ZAKARIASEN AND NORMAN TO BE BATTERY FOR LOCAL TEAM

FAST OUTFIELD IN NUTTING, SWANSON AND SHEFLO COMBINATION

The Brainerd N. P. city team is fast rounding into shape for the Isle game, which comes here on Sunday for what promises to be a fast game. The game will take place at the municipal diamond, and a large crowd is expected.

Zakariassen will be on the mound for the Brainerdites, with Norman receiving his twisters. Norman has recovered from his injuries sustained in the International Falls games, and he will add much strength to the team. His heavy work behind the plate, coupled with his stick work, will have much to do with the setting down of the Isle players.

The local outfield will be composed of Swanson, Shefelo and Nutting, a trio hard to beat. All of them are experienced players, and Nutting especially is a scintillating gardener who doesn't let anything by him.

Isle beat Brainerd last year, 5 to 4, but this year the story is likely to be different, if the spirit of the team is any indication. Fans will see a great game and all are urged to come out to support the team.

BERLENBACH IS LUCKY AGAIN, AS USUAL

DELANEY BOUT POSTPONED BY RAIN LAST NIGHT

BERLENBACH SUFFERED TORTURES TO MAKE REQUIRED WEIGHT

IF FIGHT IS HELD TONIGHT HE DOESN'T HAVE TO WEIGH IN AGAIN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, July 16.—Paul Berlenbach, world's light heavyweight champion, was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. He came not from wealth or royalty. He used a husky pair of German hands first on the torso of amateur wrestlers, then on the steering wheel of a taxicab and then on the jaws of a series of professional pugilists.

Berlenbach, born without goods of the world, but he came into an inheritance of something bigger and better—L-U-C-K.

His friends in Astoria who have played pinocle with him, and bet on—

“Der Paulie's luck.”

Berlenbach and Jack Delaney, two of the greatest light heavyweights the ring has ever known, were ready to fight last night in Brooklyn.

They weighed in before the New York boxing commission, Berlenbach 174½ pounds and Delaney 166½ pounds.

The medical examiners of the commission pronounced them perfect by every means that medical and surgical science has of discovering defects.

“I'm all right and ready to go,” Berlenbach said.

“Nothing but some bad luck can beat me,” Delaney said.

And then it started to rain and it continued to rain.

The postponement until tonight was announced and Delaney's bad luck turned into the proverbial good luck of Berlenbach.

Berlenbach had to go through the tortures of the damned to remove more than a pound of weight from his body in two hours before he had to step on the scales and prove that he was not more than 175 pounds, the legal weight of the division.

The rules of the commission provide that if the fight can be held tonight the fighters do not have to weigh in again and in the 24 hours intervening Berlenbach can eat heartily and live happily and come into the ring tonight at his own weight.

Delaney can do the same thing, of course, but the best he can add to his leverage will be only that of a light heavyweight.

If rain does not prevent the fight tonight Berlenbach will place himself next to Tex Rickard as the champion of luck.

Rickard in all his career extending years back never lost a fight on account of rain. His luck was so consistent that he never stooped to take rain insurance and he never wasted a dividend.

Delaney has had more hard luck than any prominent fighter in memory. He broke a hand so badly that he was saved from the referee heap only by the skill of a world's famous surgeon. He then had bad tonsils, septic poisoning that nearly killed him and then just before his second fight with Berlenbach he nearly severed a leg while playing with an axe.

BOUT MAY BE HELD TONIGHT

New York, July 16.—Bright sunshine pouring from cloudless skies and a promise of clear and warmer weather from the forecaster, made it appear almost certain this afternoon that the world's light heavyweight championship contest between Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney scheduled for tonight in Brooklyn would not be postponed again. The postponement forced late yesterday because of a heavy rain storm seemed to increase the interest in the fight as there was a large crowd of ticket seekers in the office of Humbert Fugazy this afternoon.

Detective Sergeant Daly announced this afternoon he had rounded up the heads of the gang believed to have printed and circulated a lot of counterfeit tickets. The suspects, whose names were not made public, were taken to Fugazy's office.

Fugazy asked all who had bought this type of tickets report at his office not later than 7 o'clock tonight.

FEW BATTERS ABLE TO STICK AT .320

Only 24 Since 1871 Have Hit at That Figure.

Just two dozen batsmen out of the more than 5,000 regulars who played professional baseball in the big leagues since the sport was inaugurated in 1871 have maintained a batting average of .320 or better over a ten-year period.

Of these 24 select players, eight, or one-third of the number, are playing ball today. They are: Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby, George Sisler, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth, Harry Heilmann, Eddie Roush and Eddie Collins. The first four named placed their name near the top of the heap. Only one of the ancients, Pete Browning, of the eighties, broke into the snobbish circle of swat.

Cobb with a lifetime average of .360 comes first; then Hornsby with .363; with Browning batting .353 for his dozen years of play.

The others with their averages are: Sisler, .352; Speaker, .349; James O'Neill, .348; Dan Brouthers, .348; Ed Delahanty, .346; Babe Ruth, .346; Willie Keeler, .345; W. R. Hamilton, .344; Jess Burkett, .342; Cap Anson, .341; Nap Lajoie, .338; Sam Thompson, .337; Harry Heilmann, .336; Roush, .334; John McGraw, .334; Mike Donlin, .334; Eddie Collins, .333; Hugh Duffy, .330; Hans Wagner, .329; Barry, .323; G. Van Halteren, .322.

Cobb leads those with the greatest total of hits, with 3,823, and the others with more than 3,000 are Speaker, Anson, Lajoie, Eddie Collins and Wagner.

Anson played the longest term of years—27, while Cobb and Lajoie totaled 21 each. Sisler and O'Neill have the shortest term of years in the register, with the minimum ten each.

LADIES BAND AND CONCERT BAND ON BASEBALL PROGRAM

MUSIC TO BE PART OF ENTERTAINMENT WHEN LIONS AND ROTARIANS MEET

LIONS HAVE 21 PLAYERS CLAMORING FOR PLACES ON LINE-UP

When the Rotarians and the Lions meet to settle their little duel at the municipal ball grounds next Tuesday they will play to the strains of martial music served up by two of Brainerd's bands.

The Ladies band will be out in full uniform to lend a festive air to the occasion, and the Brainerd Concert band, formerly the Boys' band, will also be in the stands to spur on the contestants with their music.

The management of both bands, when seen regarding the matter, were most willing to bring it to the attention of the players, with the result that both organizations will be on duty for the evening.

Twenty-one Lions are hounding Manager Bollens for places on their team, with a spirit of Lionism spurring them on to down their Rotarian contestants. Four of the number are getting their wings in shape to set down the opposition without a hit.

For the Rotarians, one more player has been added to the line-up, with the coming forward of J. P. Anderson to offer his services. Mr. Anderson will be saved until the later innings, when runs are needed, and the fans will see him as a pinch hitter. The full line-up of each team will be given in Monday's paper.

Hendricks now owns one of the best-rounded pitching staffs in the business, and if the other departments function as well as his slab corps is bound to do the Reds will stay in the race for a long time and may furnish numerous surprises.

JOE PROVOST DIES AT CROSBY

Was a Member of Three Brainerd
Lodges: Funeral Services
Monday

Crosby, July 16.—The death took place today at Crosby of Joseph Provost, fireman there, who underwent an operation recently at Rochester, Minn.

Mr. Provost was a member of the Brainerd Order of Moose, Brainerd Lodge of Elks, Brainerd Knights of Columbus, and Crosby fire department.

The funeral will be held Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the Catholic church at Crosby. Surviving are a wife and several children. He was a brother of Mrs. Edward Romaine, of Brainerd.

Barthelme Here in "New Toys," a Hit

Richard Barthelme is back on the screen of the Lyceum theatre
tonight in his latest photodrama,
"New Toys."
Unlike the glamorous "Classmates" and the thrilling "Way Down East," "New Toys" confines its action strictly to problems of the present day home. It weaves a story, however, and reaches a climax which proves as tensely dramatic and as thrilling as anything Barthelme has done.

Marvelous Eruption Shots in "Volcano!"

Portraying for the screen an eruption of Mount La Pelee on the French West Indian island of Martinique, which destroyed the city of St. Pierre and wiped out 28,000 lives, is the huge undertaking which was accomplished during the filming of "Volcano!," William K. Howard's new dramatic production for Paramount, which comes to the Lyceum
on Saturday only.

Peculiar Form of Disease

Catalepsy is a peculiar motor phenomenon, not a disease, found in a number of nervous disorders and consisting of a persistent muscular attitude of some part of the body. Cata-lepsy may or may not be accompanied by unconsciousness.

The Jenkins exhibit had an attractive placard with a gateway leading ous lakes.

Pajamas, all styles, was the exceptional big attraction of the Legion
Auxiliary Sewing class of Crosby.

Program Well Presented

The program which started at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon was well presented. There was a number for each club under the direction of Mrs.
C. H. Kyllie, general chairman.

The program opened with the singing of "America," followed by the address of welcome by County Agent E. G. Roth. Mr. Roth told of the history of the work of the formation of clubs and spoke of the meaning of "Achievement Day," what it meant to the different groups.

The address given by Miss Julia O.
Newton, State Home Demonstration
Leader, University Farm, enlightened the audience on the work being done by the different groups.

The program was drawing to a close as the paper went to press.

Because of various other attractions the tennis court dance which was to be held this evening under band concert night at Gregory park.

Chrysler "60" Sales Already $18,000,000

In the first sixty days following its introduction, May 10, the public has paid more than $18,000,000 for the new Chrysler "60," J. E. Fields, vice president in charge of sales of the Chrysler Sales Corporation, announced yesterday. Unfilled orders aggregating several million dollars more have necessitated still larger production in an effort to catch up with the demand the car has created.

When the car was unveiled to the public, production was set at 350 cars a day after a careful study of market requirements. Within two weeks demand had caused an increase to 400. That was followed early in June by a second and third step-up, first to 425 and then to 450 per day. Late in June the figure was set at 500 for this one car.

ALLEGED FARMER MURDERER FOUND NOT GUILTY

Manitowoc, Wis., July 16.—(UP)—
John Yohanek, 80, was found not guilty by a circuit court jury here last night of a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife.
Yohanek is the oldest man ever tried in Wisconsin on charge of murder.
He was arrested a short time after the charred remains of Mrs. Yohanek were found in the ruins of the Yohanek home at Kellnersville, which was destroyed by fire on the morning of February 22.

FOUR INDICTMENTS AGAINST 44 PEOPLE IN ELECTION CASES

Chicago, July 16.—(UP)—Four indictments against 44 persons for irregularities in April election in Cook county were returned today by a special grand jury.

The indictments charge wholesale theft of ballots and conspiracy.
The recount of ballots, the jury reported showed both sides attempted to steal votes.

Among those named in the indictments were William G. Pacelli, state representative of the 17th district, and Hawley Hochstein, prominent politician.

Needle Mystery

"A western Kansas man found the proverbial needle in the straw stack.
How it got there he doesn't know, but after he slid down the stack it required an hour for the surgeon to get the needle out," so records the Salina Journal. It was probably a needle some farmer lost when he "sowed"
his wheat.—Capper's Weekly.

Another Kind of Chaw, Sir

One of our English literature professors, whose name we must in all kindness withhold, was negotiating for some time with a ladies' literary club in Maine, about a lecture on Chaucer, on whom he was a distinguished authority. They finally wrote,
"We have decided to have a baked-bean supper instead."—The Harvard Lampoon.

1,000 GREET OPENING CIRCUS PERFORMERS

"Burnem and Baled Hay" Circus
Topped Local Endeavors
at Circus Performing

SECOND SHOWING TONIGHT

200 People Turned Away: Acts Were Exceptionally Well Put On;
Crowd Pleased

A real honest to goodness healthy enjoyable performance greeted the near 1,000 crowd in attendance at the "Burnem and Baled Hay" circus of the Girl Scouts assisted by the Elks at the opening last night under the "big top" on the corner of Sixth and Oak streets.

Considering the fact that the show was practically composed of local talent, it was exceptionally well put on and the large crowd that packed the tent to capacity even to standing room in the aisles left the tent at nearly 10:30 o'clock when the circus came to an end, contented and full of praise for the management who constructed the show.

There was the ovis poli, the ibex,
the burhel, the ambus, the chetal, alghai, the Asiatic wapiit, the performing elephants, long necked giraffe, trained monkeys, camels, not forgetting Jo Jo, the dog faced boy, or the wicked snapping ostrich.

That was what the circus had to offer in the line of the fierce wild animals who had to be guided around the arena to prevent general disorder and a possible riot in the event of any of the animals breaking loose.

It kept everyone guessing as to who might be the performers, for it was generally known that the majority were local people who were glad of this opportunity to show to the public their talent.

"I never knew there was really so much good talent in Brainerd," was expressed by a number of people in the audience.

Two bands were in attendance, the Brainerd Boys band and the Brainerd Ladies band, both supplying entertaining music for the acts. The Ladies band made a distinctive hit with their "rube" uniforms. Music reigned supreme. In addition to the bands there were quartets, the negro minstrels, harmonica brigades.

The grand parade around the arena started the circus on its way.
This was followed by the diving
venue act put on by Dixie Thompson, "Merdiva." This diving venue who displayed grace and style on the specially constructed diving board and in the small tank was greeted with sincere applause from the audience for her act. "Merdiva" was a pupil of Annette Kellerman, the famed diving wonder of America,
and appeared in feature acts
throughout the leading theatres of the country. "Merdiva" will perform again this evening. Her act alone is worth the price of admission.

Following this Mrs. Smith gave a singing act on the stage and then came the performing elephants who made delightful capers before the crowd, even to doing the Charleston.
The two clowns, Messrs. Appard and Swindell performed in great style.
Then came the polo game between the Lions and the Ten Thousand Lakes association which was declared a draw. The Ostrich and the Cook fight was declared a victory for the ostrich who broke the neck of the cook. The trained pines gave a good performance. Eva Cunningham and Arlene Hagberg performed on the stage in their own little act.
Mildred Hill in her gymnast act met with favor. The chariot race and the bull fight which followed also were greatly appreciated. The Rice Pudding Revue was one of the big attractions of the evening. The Minstrel Show wound up the evening's performance. It was decidedly well put on. Mrs. Roy Hall and Roland Jenkins were in charge.

It was necessary last night to turn away more than 200 people
from the performance.

Another record crowd is expected
at the circus tonight and in the case of the demand for another night, the circus will be continued Saturday.

Jack Cummins was ring master.
He handled the circus in a style creditable to professional ring masters.

Among those who took part in the animal performance were the following: elephants, Eleanor Nolan, Sylvia Erickson, Helen Mane, M. Arin-

One of our English literature professors, whose name we must in all kindness withhold, was negotiating for some time with a ladies' literary club in Maine, about a lecture on Chaucer, on whom he was a distinguished authority. They finally wrote, "We have decided to have a baked-bean supper instead."—The Harvard Lampoon.

1,000 GREET OPENING CIRCUS PERFORMERS

"Burnem and Baled Hay" Circus Topped Local Endeavors at Circus Performing

SECOND SHOWING TONIGHT

200 People Turned Away: Acts Were Exceptionally Well Put On; Crowd Pleased

A real honest to goodness healthy enjoyable performance greeted the near 1,000 crowd in attendance at the "Burnem and Baled Hay" circus of the Girl Scouts assisted by the Elks at the opening last night under the "big top" on the corner of Sixth and Oak streets.

Considering the fact that the show was practically composed of local talent, it was exceptionally well put on and the large crowd that packed the tent to capacity even to standing room in the aisles left the tent at nearly 10:30 o'clock when the circus came to a end, contented and full of praise for the management who constructed the show.

There was the ovipoli, the ibex, the burhel, the ambus, the chetal, ailghai, the Asiatic wapiti, the performing elephants, long necked giraffe, trained monkeys, camels, not forgetting Jo, Jo, the dog faced boy, or the wicked snapping ostrich.

That was what the circus had to offer in the line of the fierce wild animals who had to be guided around the arena to prevent general disorder and a possible riot in the event of any of the animals breaking loose.

It kept everyone guessing as to who might be the performers, for it was generally known that the majority were local people who were glad of this opportunity to show to the public their talent.

"I never knew there was really so much good talent in Brainerd," was expressed by a number of people in the audience.

Two bands were in attendance, the Brainerd Boys band and the Brainerd Ladies band, both supplying entertaining music for the acts. The Ladies band made a distinctive hit with their "rube" uniforms. Music reigned supreme. In addition to the bands there were quartets, the negro minstrels, harmonica brigades.

The grand parade around the arena started the circus on its way. This was followed by the diving venus act put on by Dixie Thompson, "Merdiva." This diving venus who displayed grace and style on the specially constructed diving board and in the small tank was greeted with sincere applause from the audience for her act. "Merdiva" was a pupil of Annette Kellerman, the famed diving wonder of America, and appeared in feature acts throughout the leading theatres of the country. "Merdiva" will perform again this evening. Her act alone is worth the price of admission.

Following this Mrs. Smith gave a singing act on the stage and then came the performing elephants who made delightful capers before the crowd, even to doing the Charleston. The two clowns, Messrs. Appard and Swindell performed in great style. Then came the polo game between the Lions and the Ten Thousand Lakes association which was declared a draw. The Ostrich and the Gook fight was declared a victory for the ostrich who broke the neck of the gook. The trained pines gave a good performance. Eva Cunningham and Arlene Hagberg performed on the stage in their own little act. Mildred Hill in her gymnast act met with favor. The chariot race and the bull fight which followed also were greatly appreciated. The Rice Pudding Revue was one of the big attractions of the evening. The Minstrel Show wound up the evening's performance. It was decidedly well put on. Mrs. Roy Hall and Roland Jenkins were in charge.

It was necessary last night to turn away more than 200 people from the performance. Another record crowd is expected at the circus tonight and in the case of the demand for another night, the circus will be continued Saturday. Jack Cummins was ring master. He handled the circus in a style creditable to professional ring masters.

Among those who took part in the animal performance were the following: elephants, Eleanor Nolan, Sylvia Erickson, Helen Mane, M. Arns.

NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER

IS SHOT IN OWN HOME

The men involved were Harry Turner and Harry Bouklias and neither were released.

The Canton News, property of former Governor James M. Cox of Dayton, a power in Ohio politics and directed by Mellett, financed the investigation and made the fight that resulted in the arrest and eventual conviction of the two men on perjury charges. Prior to that Governor Donahay conducted an investigation into the Canton municipal situation which resulted in the removal of C. C. Curtis as mayor and his brother, E. E. Curtis as safety director. E. E. Curtis is now in prison on charges of accepting a bribe.

Four months ago Mellett informed the United States district attorney's office at Cleveland that his life had been threatened if he did not "lay off the vice situation in Canton."

For several days Mellett's home had been guarded by special officers, but yesterday Mellett, convinced that the threats were largely a bluff, dismissed the policemen. This morning out, declare they saw the figures in to his home with a party of friends from the Molly Stark club, Mellett left the house to put his car in the garage. As he emerged from the garage a hail of bullets swept from the shadows in the alley at the rear of the house. With two bullets in his head Mellett fell dead.

Mrs. Mellett, standing near the kitchen window in the house, narrowly escaped death as some of the bullets smashed the glass. Neighbors rushing in, declare they saw the figures of at least two men fade into the shadows of the alley as they came upon Mellett's body. Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Vail of Canton were with Mrs. Mellett, when the shooting occurred. An automobile with a Pennsylvania license plate was seen near the Mellett home before the murder.

The automobile reports and the two fleeing men are the only clues the police have to the murderers.

Canton, O., July 16.—With the assassins who early today fired 14 shots from ambush to murder Don R. Mellett, brilliant young reform editor of the Canton Daily News, still unarrested, both federal and state investigation of the crime are expected to be underway here within the week.

It is openly charged that Mellett was killed as a last desperate effort to stop his campaign against the bootleggers and vice interests of the city.

Columbus, O., July 16.—The Scripps-Howard newspapers of Ohio today offered a $5,000 reward for the capture of the slayer or slayers who assassinated Don Mellett, editor of the Canton Ohio Daily News early today.

Cleveland, O., July 16.—United States District Attorney A. A. Bernstein will conduct an investigation into the killing of Don A. Mellett, editor of the Canton Daily News, his office stated today.

Mellett had recently conferred

WHEAT PRICES SOAR AT MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, July 16.—(UP)—Wheat prices soared to new highs today in the Minneapolis Grain exchange.

July wheat opened at $1.68 1/2 a bushel, hit a high figure of $1.72 1/2 during the day and eased off to $1.71 1/2 at the close, a net gain of 4 1/2 cents over Thursday's close of $1.67.

The activity in the market was owing to reports of extensive crop damage in the northwest. In some sections of the Dakotas, the crop was said to have deteriorated completely.

DISCOUNT RATE UNCHANGED

New York, July 16.—(UP)—Traders who had taken a bearish position on the long shot that the rediscount rate might be advanced after Thursday's close had to pay dearly for their experiment, with the rate unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent, a 5 per cent strengthening of the reserve position of the local federal reserve bank suggesting that no increase is in immediate prospect, stocks rallied from the start of trading today.

This recovery was led by General Motors, which forged into record territory. Bullish activities gradually spread as the session progressed embracing General Electric, American Can and other standard industrials as well as representative rails like Pere Marquette, New Haven and Missouri Pacific preferred.

The market closed higher.

School at Gettysburg Was Battle Hospital

The building that housed the first classical school west of the Susquehanna river is still standing in Gettysburg, Pa., says the Baltimore Sun. The ivy-covered stone building known as the Dobbin house, was erected in 1774 by Rev. Alexander Dobbin, a native of Ireland, who came to this country in 1773.

For more than thirty years, Mr. Dobbin conducted his school and many men, who later became prominent public citizens, were scholars. Early in the Nineteenth century the Dobbin school failed for some reason not recorded.

During the battle of Gettysburg the Dobbin house was used as an emergency field hospital, being at the edge of the fighting area. Men of both sides were cared for in the building. A spring of water in the basement was the mecca for hundreds of soldiers while the battle raged. Several families now occupy the property.

Log Formed "Gas Pipe"

A reminder of the first attempts at "modern conveniences" in Lincoln, Neb., was found when a hollow-log gas pipe laid in 1872 was unearthed recently in excavations for a new building. The pipe was made of an eight-inch log. The walls were two inches thick and had been soaked in pitch. According to gas-company officials, all of the gas mains were made of wood. The pipe unearthed was still in use and in sound condition. It was replaced with iron pipe and has been put in a local museum.

Couldn't See a Reward

On New Year's eve, 1921, George Levy of Chester Pa., was robbed by a pickpocket in Philadelphia. The thief stole, among other things, a bunch of keys. A short time ago Levy received a brass name plate, which had been attached to the keys, from a Hamburg junk dealer, who explained that the brass check had been received in Germany in a cargo of junk from the United States. The junk dealer asked if there was any reward. There was not.

The men involved were Harry Turner and Harry Bouklas and neither were released.

The Canton News, property of former Governor James M. Cox of Dayton, a power in Ohio politics and directed by Mellett, financed the investigation and made the fight that resulted in the arrest and eventual conviction of the two men on perjury charges. Prior to that Governor Donahy conducted an investigation into the Canton municipal situation which resulted in the removal of C. C. Curtis as mayor and his brother, E. E. Curtis as safety director. E. E. Curtis is now in prison on charges of accepting a bribe.

Four months ago Mellett informed the United States district attorney's office at Cleveland that his life had been threatened if he did not "lay off the vice situation in Canton."

For several days Mellett's home had been guarded by special officers, but yesterday Mellett, convinced that the threats were largely a bluff, dismissed the policemen. This morning out, declare they saw the figures of his home with a party of friends from the Molly Stark club, Mellett left the house to put his car in the garage. As he emerged from the garage a hail of bullets swept from the shadows in the alley at the rear of the house. With two bullets in his head Mellett fell dead.

Mrs. Mellett, standing near the kitchen window in the house, narrowly escaped death as some of the bullets smashed the glass. Neighbors rushing in, declare they saw the figures of at least two men fade into the shadows of the alley as they came upon Mellett's body. Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Vail of Canton were with Mrs. Mellett, when the shooting occurred. An automobile with a Pennsylvania license plate was seen near the Mellett home before the murder.

The automobile reports and the two fleeing men are the only clues the police have to the murderers.

Canton, O., July 16.—With the assassins who early today fired 14 shots from ambush to murder Don R. Mellett, brilliant young reform editor of the Canton Daily News, still unarrested, both federal and state investigation of the crime are expected to be underway here within the week.

It is openly charged that Mellett was killed as a last desperate effort to stop his campaign against the bootleggers and vice interests of the city.

Columbus, O., July 16.—The Scripps-Howard newspapers of Ohio today offered a $5,000 reward for the capture of the slayer or slayers who assassinated Don Mellett, editor of the Canton Ohio Daily News early today.

Cleveland, O., July 16.—United States District Attorney A. A. Bernstein will conduct an investigation into the killing of Don A. Mellett, editor of the Canton Daily News, his office stated today.

Mellett had recently conferred

PRIVATE CITIZEN
SEEMS TOO
ZEALOUS IN RAID

Park Rapids, Minn., July 16.—Fred Hagenau, who shot and killed William Lent yesterday during a raid with a sheriff's party on a moonshine den, spent the night in jail, following rumors of threats.

The county attorney's office did not disclose plans in the case. Meanwhile Hagenau was at liberty.

BALLOON DETROITER
WINS ELKS RACE

Chicago, July 16.—(UP)—The gas bag Detroit, which landed yesterday at Jennings, Fla., after taking the air Tuesday at Chicago, was declared the winner of the Elks International Balloon race, today.

Going approximately 854 miles, the Detroit travelled 229 miles further than the Hi-Ball, which took second place by coming to the ground at Portland, Ark.

The long trip of the Detroit piloted by Charles O. Williams, Jr., was said to constitute a record for balloons of 35,000 cubic feet gas displacement.

"Just Tell 'em To See Me About This Karnak"Minneapolis Man Says You Could Look The World Over
And You Wouldn't Find A Medicine To Equal This Amazing Health-Builders.

"No, you couldn't half equal this wonderful medicine, Karnak, if you looked the world over," declared J. Robbotts, 105 Thirteenth St., South Apt. 5, Minneapolis.

"Why, I got so weak I had to give up work for six months and they told me I would have to have an operation. My appetite was all gone. What little I forced to eat had no taste to me and even though I didn't take anything but the lightest foods, I suffered agony just the same. Sometimes I was in such agony from pains in my stomach I would double up like a jack knife."

"It was just day and night suffering for me. Even a glass of water caused agony. Nobody knows how I suffered with those cramping pains in my stomach. It was sore as a boil and my nerves were right on edge. I couldn't sleep and I would drag myself out of bed in the morning feeling dizzy, with a sick headache and feeling more dead than alive. Pains in the small of my back and a feeling like a lump of lead in my stomach was the way I went to work."

"And I'll tell the world when Karnak has rid me of all this agony and misery like it has I'll tell anybody on earth it's the most amazing medicine in the world—and I can back it up, too. You just see the way I eat now and you won't doubt what I say. Why, I can't get enough. And my stomach is just like a new one. Not a pain or an ache or the least discomfort no matter what I eat."

"I tell you I am just like a new man from head to foot. I sleep like a log and I feel like a first class fighting man. Just tell 'em to come to see me if they want to see what Karnak will do."

Karnak is sold in Brainerd by all good drug stores and by leading druggists in every town. —Advt
